

Haiku Journal Issues 16 and 18

Heart strings pulled taught by the universal face of human suffering

Is it a question
only, and simply enough, of honoring life?

Tall pines stand above a fire burning at midnight, two old friends, laughing